THE BOOK

When I was a child I had a very consecrated Sunday School formation that this lady taught. We learned about the Bible from her. I remember how well the members of her class behaved, and how hard we studied to please her. I still remember the Psalms that I memorized in her class. She always called the roll and we answered with a verse of the Scriptures that we had learned that week. Besides the usual lesson she taught us some general facts that I have never forgotten.

THE POWER OF EXAMPLE

By Dr. J. L. Scott
The power of example is seen most clearly in the home. Children are born imitators. It is amusing and also amazing to see ourselves in the acts and words and even facial expressions of the children of the home. That is their God given way to learn, by following the example of those about them. It is also the high and holy privilege of parents to show the right way. Every person, and especially every father, should remember the words of a poet: "A careful man I want to be; A little fellow follows me. I cannot escape his eyes; What'er he see me do he'll try." The power of the right example should be felt in the councils of the nations. In the peace conference, after the first World War, some cynics said

By Dr. J. L. Scott
The power of example is seen most clearly in the home. Children are born imitators. It is amusing and also amazing to see ourselves in the acts and words and even facial expressions of the children of the home. That is their God given way to learn, by following the example of those about them. It is also the high and holy privilege of parents to show the right way. Every person, and especially every father, should remember the words of a poet: "A careful man I want to be; A little fellow follows me. I cannot escape his eyes; What'er he see me do he'll try." The power of the right example should be felt in the councils of the nations. In the peace conference, after the first World War, some cynics said

"Woodrow Wilson acts like Jesus Christ"

If there were more examples like that among the world leaders, there would be less war and more peace. The power of example should be felt most fully and constantly in the fellowship of the church. Paul said to young Timothy, "Let no man despise your youth, but set the believers an example in speech and conduct, in love, in faith, and purity." It is only by "looking unto Jesus" as our example and our Savior from sin that we can hope to see the right example (1 Pet. 2:20-25). Tertullian, and early church leader, tells us that most of the converts from paganism were won to Christ, not by books or sermons, but by observing how Christians lived and died. The same might be true today. "Let your light so shine..."

"Whatnik" Visits East Lake School

There was excitement and good-natured confusion among pupils and faculty members last Thursday afternoon when a young man, looking "Whatnik" made an unexpected crash landing on the campus of the East Lake School in Pahokee.

A weird looking object, this unit from outer space, and the crowd milling about it was a puzzle to know who, what, why and where it had originated. The mystery was only partially explained when the nose of the "rocket" slowly opened and out stepped HORACE, the Space

Horse, amid the admiring oohs and aahs of a wide-eyed student body.

HORACE managed to get the idea across that he had come to lend his talents to the forthcoming SPACE FOLLIES at the Showboat Theatre on April 30. This is a closed dance with admissions by invitation only. There's one thing we can say, here's a horse that's Out of this World, who really knows his oohs! You'll want to be there when HORACE is put through his paces in the FOLLIES next week.

On his way to this planet HORACE stopped over on Venus long enough to fill his saddlebags with some of the most stunning creatures you've ever seen. These colorful and glamorous objects which he says are all the rage on the Space Satellites, will be worn and displayed by the East Lake Models of 1958.

Get your tickets for this year's SPACE FOLLIES now! It's one show you can't afford to miss!

Oldest Trick In The Book Is Used

The old confidence trick, believed to be the oldest gag since the invention of money, was worked successfully on a Negro woman here Friday. Annie Mae Blockshear, 401 SW Ave. C. P. I. is out $200 and two unknown "artists" are free.

Belle Glade police reported that the Blockshear woman was taken in by the two unknown males when they told her they had found a wallet containing an undisclosed amount of money. The pair promised to divide the money with her if she promised to remain quiet about it. To demonstrate her "good faith" she was asked to give the men some money and return to a specified spot at a later time. The woman put up the $200 and returned to find that the confidence men had apparently left town. They were last seen in the vicinity of the post office.

All transportation facilities of this city were checked and notified to be on the look-out for the two men. Police in surrounding cities were also notified.

Are you a hurricane driver? You are if you drive 75 miles an hour or more, the National Safety Council says.

At that pace you can destroy yourself and anything in your path as quickly as a hurricane.

The U. S. Census Bureau considers drivers of 75 miles and over of hurricane proportion, says the Council, and motorists should remember that a car driven at the same speed is propelled with the same destructive force.

At high speeds the human body becomes increasingly vulnerable. An accident occurs at 60 miles an hour or more the victim is eight times more likely to die than if he had not been injured in an accident at 20 miles an hour.

Speed not only increases your chances of having an accident-it decreases your chances of coming out alive if you do have one.

To determine a safe speed take into consideration:

1. Weather visibility. 2. Mechanical factors. 3. Road conditions. Whether it is rough, smooth, hilly, flat, curving or straight.

4. The driver's physical and mental condition.

5. Traffic conditions. A safe speed on a country road can be unsafe on a city street.

Record Crowd Attends

The wives and children of the ladies attending were entertained with a tour of the farms and packing houses as well as a few boat rides.

Wives of the Belle Glade club served refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting. Candidates for district governor were allowed a few minutes to speak on behalf of their candidacy.

In addition, Florida will have a candidate for the office of International Director and Dr. Walter Campbell, Miami Beach, and Millard Conklin, Daytona Beach, were present to solicit votes.

Plans were made for the state convention at Sarasota May 18-20.

12 Boys Arrested

Police said the boys weren't a gang under any one supervisor, but they were, in most instances, acquaintances or school mates. Some of the youth have been arrested previously, some others have served terms at Marianna's School for Boys.

Police Chief Goodlett and Lt. V. R. Clark said the arrests this week solved at least 13 incidents of petty crimes at nine different locations in this area which took place during the past 10 months.

Incidents include entering of attempts to enter Roy's Market, Smith's Grocery (twice), Meeks' Grocery, city golf course buildings (three times), Ace Theatre (twice), Houston's and Bearden's.

groceries, Little Harlem and Gus bars.

Items taken include a total of more than $50, watches, cigarettes, candy and pastry.

Police here broke the case after solving the Smith's Grocery incident. A confession by the guilty party led to the implication of others who, in turn, implicated still others.

Police Chief Goodlett said that the force would probably uncover several more incidents and juvenile delinquents before the investigation was closed on these few incidents.

Typical of the confessions was the fact that the youngsters had nothing to do at the time. One statement made by one of the older boys was, "Dad, let's pull a job."

As others heard about the successes, the desire to commit crimes spread to others. Chief Goodlett and Lt. Clark said two factors were responsible for the crime wave. 1. The boys stated that they had nothing to do. 2. There was a lack of moral training in almost every case.

Some of the boys have no parents and are living with their relatives. Whether with parents or not, they said, a lack of any parental supervision was quite obvious.

Post 20 Commander Says Communist Lie Expected As May Day Draws Near

Everglades American Legion Post 20 Commander W. H. McCarthy, in a statement this week to post members and the public, warned of the intensive propaganda barrage by Communists expected for May Day.

"May Day is fast becoming a Communist holiday around the world," the commander said.

"Laughing children and May poles, thoughts of spring and summer, the traditional meaning of May 1, is being discolored by the big Red lie."

"This year the Reds have even promised a shot at the moon with a Sputnik as a crashing exclamation point for the annual Communist observance of May Day," he said.

"It's time we all got back to the May pole and let the Red lies and propaganda fall on deaf ears."

Septic Tank Restrictions Described By Sanitarian Of County Health Dept.

Septic tanks constructed of concrete blocks or bricks will no longer be approved by the Palm Beach County Health Department. This policy change was reported by Joseph C. Alvarez, Chief Sanitarian with the department, and is due to the poor structure and lack of water tightness generally found in this kind of septic tank.

"Pre-cast concrete tanks, such as are available at all septic tank manufacturing companies, ty Health Department, Engineering and Planning, constructed by forming and pouring in place are the only types of septic tanks that will now be approved," Alvarez stated. Farmers Reminded Of Duties Under ASC Program Chairman, E. F. Froehlich, of the Palm Beach County ASC Committee today urged Glades farmers to be careful about their responsibilities under the Acreage Reserve of the Soil Bank during the coming crop season if they want to get the full benefit of that program.

At present all of the farmers participating in the acreage reserve program in the county are Glades area farmers, Froehlich said. In a reminder to farmers, Froehlich pointed out that the signer of an acreage reserve agreement has undertaken a binding commitment to hold his reserve tract out of production during the 1958 growing season.

With regard to the acreage reserve tract (land on the farm diverted from allotment crop to the reserve), Froehlich cited three main requirements as follows:

(1) PLANTING. No crop may be planted on the Acreage Reserve before January 1, 1959, except that with the approval of the state committee certain crops may be planted in the fall of 1958 (on velvet in 1958) related where that is the normal practice.

(2) GRAZING. The Acreage Reserve may not be grazed before January 1, 1959.

(3) HARVESTING. No crop may be harvested from the Acreage Reserve during calendar year 1958.

In addition to observing these requirements on land planted in the Acreage Reserve Froehlich said, the farmer must comply with any other acreage allotments on his farm and must keep within the farmer's total permitted acreage. The permitted acreage is the Soil Bank base — two-year average of grain and row-crops — less land placed in the Soil Bank.

By willfully failing to comply with his Acreage Reserve agreement, Froehlich said, a farmer will lose his payment, and may under certain circumstances, be subject to a civil penalty equal to 50 percent of the payment he would otherwise have earned.

An Answer To Home Hazards?

Head-shakers and back-waggers among the collection of statistics on accidents in the home have been predicting doom at every turn in today's home. And too often, they're chillingly right. People have been biting (and even killing) themselves in bathtub, on door frames, slippery floors, and home workshops at truly alarming rates (nearly up to a total of 4,500,000 at home injuries last year).

Many of these—such as the home workshop—are hazards we have to live with and try to control by special rules. Others, such as the floors in the home, can be a little better protected than they are now.

One such protection is easier to come by than many others—it's the rug pad. Just say you won't do for this purpose, however. It should not only be under the floor, but less slippery and, as its very name, shock-absorbent.

There is such a material around, and it's now coming into wider use as a rug padding. The material is urethane foam, a test-tube material made from chemicals and mixed enough to provide inches of protection with the use of a half-inch strip of foam laid on the floor under the rug. A recent product even has it sewed to the back of the rug itself.

Since urethane foam is washable, mildew-resistant, and has excellent cushioning properties, it's both a safety and comfort feature for under-rug use. It helps prevent spills, yet doesn't miss the rug to hazardous liquids to trip an unwary toe.

Incidentally, so versatile is the new plastic foam that one engineer has gone so far as to predict a firm-lined bathtub to minimize the dangers of bathtub falls. Though this is a chuckle-inspiring thought, it could be of serious aid to cutting down the incidence of these anything-but-funny accidents.

We don't know how practical this latter suggestion is, but we do know that the wider use of urethane foam in the home (it's now turning up as cushioning in quilts, and floor covering—under floor slabs as we've just seen) is a sound concept, and increasing the safety of the modern home which uses this modern of the man-made materials.
